Mobile Premier pediatric Dentistry Informed Consent for Patient Management Techniques and Acknowledgement Receipt of Information

State law requires health professionals to provide their prospective patients with information regarding the treatment or procedures they are contemplating. State law also requires us to obtain your consent for any specific dental treatment, procedures or techniques, which might be considered to be of concern to the patient or parent. Informed consent indicates your awareness of sufficient information to allow you to make an informed personal choice concerning your child's dental treatment after considering the risks, benefits, and alternatives.

Please read this form carefully and ask about anything you do not understand. We will be pleased to explain it.

It is our intent that all professional care delivered in our dental operatory shall be of the best possible quality we can provide for each child. Providing a high quality care can sometimes be made very difficult or even impossible, because of the lack of cooperation of some child patients. Among the behaviors that can interfere with the proper provision of quality dental care are: hyperactivity, resistive movements, refusing to open the mouth or keep it open long enough to perform the necessary dental treatment, and even aggressive or physical resistance to treatment, such as kicking, screaming, and grabbing the dentist's hands or the sharp dental instruments.

There are several behavior management techniques that are used by pediatric dentists to gain the cooperation of child patients to eliminate disruptive behavior or prevent patients from causing injury to themselves due to uncontrollable movement. The more frequently used pediatric dentistry behavior management techniques are as follows:

1. Tell-Show-Do: The dentist or assistant explains to the child what is to be done using simple terminology and repetition and then shows the child what is to be done by demonstrating with instruments on a model or the child's or dentist's finger. Then the procedure is performed in the child's mouth as described. Praise is used to reinforce cooperative behavior.

2. Positive reinforcement: This technique rewards the child who displays any behavior, which is desirable. Rewards include compliments, praise, a pat on the back, a hug or a prize.

3. Voice control: The attention of a disruptive child is gained by changing the tone or volume of the dentist's voice.

4. Mouth props: A rubber or plastic device is placed in the child's mouth to prevent closing when a child refuses or has difficulty maintaining an open mouth.

5. Papoose Boards and Pedi-Wraps: These are restraining devices for limiting the disruptive child's movements to prevent injury and to enable the dentist to provide the necessary treatment. The child is wrapped in these devices and sits in a reclined dental chair.

6. Nitrous Oxide: Nitrous Oxide may be provided for your child. The patient does not become unconscious.

7. Conscious Sedation: Sometimes drugs are used to relax a child who does not respond to other behavior management techniques or who is unable to comprehend or cooperate for the dental procedures. These drugs may be administered orally. The child does not become unconscious. Your child will not be sedated without you being further informed and obtaining your specific consent for such procedure

8. General anesthesia: The dentist performs the dental treatment with the child anesthetized in the hospital operating room. Your child will not be given general anesthesia without you being further informed and obtaining your specific consent for such procedure.

9. IV Sedation: Sedative medications given as an intramuscular or intravenous injection that works quickly and reliably within a few minutes done in the office. An in-office anesthesiologist and nurse are present during the procedure. We will obtain your specific consent for such procedure.
